DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The subject matter of this application admits of illustration by a drawing to facilitate understanding of the invention. Applicant is required to furnish a drawing under 37 CFR 1.81. No new matter may be introduced in the required drawing.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The range '18 to 40' is broader than the claimed range of '24 to 40' in the base claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Yoshimasa et al (JP 06-327791). Yoshimasa discloses a golf ball for water surface training comprising a core and a cover. The cover is made from an ionomer resin having a flexural modulus from 1500 to 3000 kg/cm² or 147 to 294 Mpa. The golf ball has a specific gravity from 0.5 to 1.0 (abstract). Applicant further claims the ratio (F/D) wherein F is the flexural modulus of the cover and D is the deformation of the golf ball. The F/D ratio is an inherent feature of Yoshimasa. Yoshimasa and the present invention disclose identical materials for the core and cover layer. The cores are made from polybutadiene BR11, VCR412, Mipelon XM-220, Nipol 2007J, zinc oxide, hollow particles, methacrylic acid, and dicumyl peroxide. See table 1 of spec; pages 2-3 and tables 1-2 of the Yoshimasa translation. The covers have the same flexural modulus and are made from Himilan 1605, 1705, 1706 and 1855. See table 3 of spec; page 3 of the Yoshimasa translation.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 11-21-02 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The drawing requirement is maintained. Applicant is claiming an article and must therefore provide drawings to illustrate each and every structural feature. The 102 rejection over Yoshimasa is also maintained. As shown above the present invention and the Yoshimasa reference disclose identical core and cover compositions. Applicant states the ratio F/D of Yoshimasa equals 44.3 to 115.7, which is outside applicant's claimed range of 24 to 40. The Examiner fails to see how the ranges differ when the compositions are identical. Furthermore, applicant has not provided adequate test data to show the calculations used to calculate the F/D value of Yoshimasa, i.e. declaration from inventor.

The Examiner has furnished applicant with a copy of the foreign and translated versions of the Yoshimasa reference. However, the tables are not translated. If available, applicant is requested to provide the Examiner with a translated version of the entire reference.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
